

A LOVABLE DAYDREAMER

CHEERFUL AND UNDAUNTED, Mr Faustini keeps up his extended miniature travels, as he calls his short walks, even in winter. But when the nearby lake freezes over and the valley grinds to a halt under an icy fog, all that comes to an end. Mr Faustini stays at home. But that doesn't mean the adventures end as well. For him, his home is a whole cosmos as well where you have to keep on good terms with the heating and make sure to humour the cat. But Mr Faustini wouldn't be Mr Faustini if there wasn't always something happening, and not only in his head. One day, Uschi, his former classmate, knocks on his door and proposes to him, but Mr Faustini would rather be alone. When the ice starts to thaw in the spring, he leaves the house again, not without consequences...

WOLFGANG HERMANN, born in Bregenz, Austria, in 1961, studied philosophy and German in Vienna. Since 1987 he has worked as a freelance writer and has published numerous novels, novellas, plays, and audio plays which he has won several awards for. After spending some time abroad, he now lives in Vienna. His novels Farewell without End (sold to France, Spain, and Sweden) and The Art of Flying Underground have also been published by LangenMüller. Mr Faustini Stays at Home is the fourth novel about this quirky loner.

Nonconformist and lost in dreams – the long-awaited sequel in the Faustini series

For all of those who have an appreciation for the absurdity in everyday life

Wolfgang Hermann
MR FAUSTINI STAYS AT HOME
A novel

144 pages
11.8 x 19.2 cm
hardcover with dust jacket
ISBN 978-3-7844-3402-5
June 2016